TELAGIO BAPTISTA / Artist Bio

Telagio's passion for art began as a gifted child winning national awards in high school, and a scholarship to art college. He worked in numerous leading advertising agencies as an art director and owned a design studio in Hawaii for 20-years. At a youthful age, he was also a performing concert violinist and concert master for a symphony. He started to evolve as a watercolorist in art college and upon completion of his education, he had to temporarily put aside the brushes for a living in graphic design.

Telagio believes that watercolor is a magical and exotic medium that has no creative boundaries. This to him creates a multitude of viewer emotions.

His primary focus is in color harmony using a limited palette. He also believes the eye should have a resting place while viewing his painting without distracting backgrounds. This allows his watercolors to bring a sense of subject connection, and emotional impact to the viewer.

Telagio has acclaimed numerous award-winning watercolors from juried International and Regional shows to collectors of his painting. And he continues his artistic journey by annually entering juried art shows, along with ongoing workshops in Northern California.
